VII. 閱讀測驗(每題 2 分,共 4 分)

There are a lot of problems in the world right now. But sometimes, problems help people think of new ways to make things better. Because of the coronavirus disease in 2020, some people have trouble buying things for their homes, like food, clothes, and even toilet paper. However, many people found a way to fix this problem; they are starting to barter. To barter means to give one thing you don't need, and you can get a different thing you need.

In Fiji, almost 200 thousand people are in a group to barter things together. That is about 20% of people in Fiji. Bartering also helps the poor. If you need food, and your friends have too much, then you can give them something and they can share their food. But people don't just share things. They can also barter time. For example, if your friends teach you science for one hour, then you can teach them English for one hour.

coronavirus disease 新冠肺炎 toilet 廁所 fix 修正
