Hi, I'm Angela. Please come in. Now let me show you the apartment. We just finished decorating it yesterday. This is the living room. The bedroom and bathroom are on your right, the kitchen and dining room on the other side. The bathroom is by the front door, and you can get to it from both the bedroom and the living room. This way, visitors can use the bathroom without walking through your bedroom. Right across from the bathroom is the dining room, and you can see in here, the only door to the kitchen. This way, any smoke in the kitchen won't get into the living room. How do you like the apartment?

41. Which picture is Angela talking about?

Did you enjoy listening for the rhyming words? And did you see their pattern? Not like “Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star,” this poem rhymes in every other line. With a few simple words, the poet makes a beautiful picture. Just picture this: on the road, a little car is driving, and then four cars comes one by one. And just like magic, it makes a lovely and fun picture.

Wow. I can't believe I'm standing here. I am so happy. Well... First, I'd like to thank my parents. They paid for my acting classes for so many years. Now I can tell them they didn't spend their money for nothing. My thanks also go to the excellent team I work with. Special thanks go to Howard. He wrote a great part for me. Also, I must thank my husband, Henson. He did all the housework and took care of our baby. Without him, I couldn't do so well on the big screen. Thank you. Thank you all for believing in me.

50. What did the speaker win the prize(獎) for?
 (A) For her book. (B) For her movie.
 (C) For her news report. (D) For her great painting.
