People from different countries see death in different ways. In Taiwan, we seldom talk about it even on Tomb Sweeping Day. But in Mexico, people celebrate the Day of the Dead with joy. During the festival, they also sweep tombs, but they remember their dead family in a lively way.

Several months ago, I visited my friend, Rosa, in Mexico. I was there for the Day of the Dead on November first and second. We invited the ghosts back to our world. We painted our faces and dressed up in costumes. Later, we danced at a street party. It was so fun.

Back at Rosa's house, there were candles, candy, and colorful flowers on the table. I enjoyed a big meal with her family, and they shared touching stories of their dead family. For Mexicans, the Day of the Dead is all about love, not fear.
