Later that night, they were watching TV when George got up from the sofa. Mary asked, "where are you going, honey?"

"To the kitchen. I'm hungry."

Mary thought for a while and said, "I'm hungry, too. Can you make a sandwich for me?"

"Sure."

"Write it down. You have memory problems," said Mary.

"No. I can remember it. It's easy. What else do you need?"

Mary said, "Maybe some hot milk with cookies. Write it down. You can't remember them all."

After half an hour, George went back. Mary was falling asleep when he gave her a glass of milk. "Here you go," said George.

French Fries are amazing, and I love all kinds of them. Now, I'm going to share with you some fun facts about French Fries, so you can wow all of your friends with your knowledge!

French Fries are NOT French!

Yeah, this one isn't really a secret anymore. French Fries actually came from Belgium. But what you may not know is the word "french" is the same as "frites," which means to "cut lengthwise" in old English. And, as we all know, they are fried potatoes. That is why it got the name called "French Fry"

France May Have Thought that Eating Potatoes Would Get You Sick.

That's right! In fact, they used them for pig feed because they didn't trust them enough to eat themselves. It wasn't until a prisoner ate potatoes and came back to France, telling everyone that potatoes are good to eat, that France started changing their mind.

McDonald's French Fries Used to be Only 10¢!

Can you imagine going to McD's and getting a meal with 10¢ fries before? Yes, please, I'll take 50!

Japan Had Chocolate-Drizzled French Fries in Their McDonald's

I may need to be booking a flight to Japan if these are still around! These chocolate-drizzled French Fries were offered for a short time from 2016 to 2017. A chocolate and pumpkin flavor were also popular at that time.

This is the report from Jenny Smith. Hope you like it.

Eclipse the dog, known for riding the bus alone to the dog park, has died

October 16, 2022

Eclipse, the Seattle dog known for riding a city bus herself, died on Friday. She was 10 years old and died in her sleep. The news was posted on her owner-run Facebook account.

Eclipse got attention in 2015 when she began to take the bus alone. Her owner, Jeff Young, says the two of them would take the bus to visit their local Belltown Dog Park very often. One day, he was still smoking when the bus arrived — so, Eclipse got on the bus without him. The bus driver knew her and surprisingly the dog knew her stop by looking out the window.

"We get separated. She gets on the bus without me, and I catch up with her at the dog park," Jeff told KOMO News. "It's not hard to get on. She gets on in front of her house and she gets off at the dog park, three or four stops later. That is amazing!"

"Eclipse was a super sweet, world-famous, bus riding dog and the true Seattle icon. She brought joy and happiness to everyone and showed us all that good dogs belong on the bus," said the bus driver.

This is Andy Lee from Belltown.
