三、閱讀測驗(45~50) 12%

(一)

Americans love parties, and most people choose to entertain in their homes. A get-together can be just a small dinner party for friends. Or it may be a big celebration of a special situation like a birthday or a wedding.

One special kind of party, called a shower, celebrates an upcoming wedding or birth. Usually only women take part in a wedding shower or baby shower. At the party, women “shower” the bride-to-be or mother-to-be with gifts. Everyone plays games, opens the gifts, and enjoys the food and drinks.

A potluck is another popular kind of party that can be held for any reason. At a potluck, everyone brings a dish to share. It might be a main dish, salad or dessert. Sometimes the hostess will tell people what kind of food to bring – so everyone won’t bring the same thing.

Whatever the reason for the party, people enjoy sharing food and conversation with their friends.

*entertain 招待 *situation 情況 *upcoming 即將來臨的
*hostess 女主人 *whatever 不管什麼 *conversation 談話

45. What does “bride-to-be” mean?

- (A) A woman who is going to have a party soon.
- (B) A woman who is going to buy a new house soon.
- (C) A woman who is going to prepare the food and drinks soon.
- (D) A woman who is going to get married soon.

46. Which is true?

- (A) Only men are invited to the shower party.
- (B) A shower is a kind of party that can be held for any reason.
- (C) In the party, everyone enjoys the food and talks with their friends.
- (D) The hostess has to prepare all the food and drinks for everyone.

47. Which is true about “A potluck”?

- (A) Everyone cooks the dish with the hostess, and they enjoy the food together.
- (B) The hostess will invite friends and strangers to the party.
- (C) It is held in a nice restaurant.
- (D) Sometimes they are asked to bring different dishes to share with others.

(二)

On Thanksgiving Day, most Americans give thanks. But most of us now agree that people should make thankfulness part of their everyday lives. Some studies show that a thankful attitude brings both emotional and physical good.

The practice of thankfulness can increase your happiness by 25 percent! Thankful people are found to be kinder and easier to feel loved. They have greater satisfaction in life and more hope for the future.

Interestingly, thankfulness produces a physical reaction in the body. Thinking about someone or something you are thankful makes you calm down. This act results in peace of mind, more energy, better sleep and less pain.

The greatest good, though, is that a thankful attitude makes those around you feel better! Why not begin today by practicing an attitude of thankfulness? You might be surprised by how good it makes you feel!

*attitude 態度 *emotional 情感上的 *increase 增加
*reaction 反應 *result 結果

48. What’s the main idea of the reading?

- (A) The importance(重要性) of being thankful.
- (B) The importance of Thanksgiving Day.
- (C) The importance of exercising every day.
- (D) The importance of making friends happy.

49. What does “it” mean?

- (A) Making those around you happy.
- (B) Thanksgiving Day.
- (C) Practicing an attitude of thankfulness.
- (D) Your happiness.

50. Thankful people _____.

- (A) are tired of themselves
