Have you ever wondered why there are four seasons in a year? In Greek mythology, a story explains the origin of the four seasons.
One day, Persephone, the goddess of spring, went out to pick some flowers with some other beautiful goddesses. They were so happy that they didn't see a man standing in the dark watching them. The man was Pluto, the god of the underworld. For a long time, Pluto lived alone in hell where there was no light and no fun. He fell in love with Persephone right away and he decided to take her away. When Persephone was having fun with the other goddesses, Pluto jumped out from the dark and caught Persephone in his arms. No matter how much the poor goddess cried, Pluto took her into the underworld. When hearing her daughter, Persephone, was taken to the underworld, Demeter, the goddess of crops, was so sad that she forgot to make the plants and crops grow. Then, the earth was not green anymore and everything was dead.
Finally, though unwilling to let Persephone go forever, Pluto decided to free her for a while, but she still had to stay in hell for three months every year. After Persephone returned to earth, Demeter was very happy and she made everything alive. However, every time Persephone went back to hell, Demeter would be sad and everything on earth would not grow.

All over Taiwan, you can see many high school teenagers came home from cram schools late at night, carrying their heavy schoolbags. In our culture, most young students join these after-hours schools that cram many testing tips into their brain.
Many students resent going to cram schools after they have spent a full day at school. Though they are not happy that they have no free time for hobbies or taking exercise, they can do nothing. Other students, however, like the air-conditioned classrooms, helpful teaching helpers, fun new classmates and teachers. This kind of training often improves students' test scores.
Although cram schools can be helpful and even enjoyable, we must remember and understand their weakness. These schools only cram students with the "food" teachers feed them. If students only receive this canned knowledge, they can't be independent learners.

 cram schools 補習班; cram 塞進; tips 技巧; brain 腦袋; air-conditioned 有冷氣的; improve 增進; independent 獨立的;
